Did you know? Fraud and scams are on the rise as Tax Day approaches, however they are present all year round. It is important to know the IRS does not initiate contact with taxpayers by email, text messages or social media channels to request personal or financial information.

A common scam that targets taxpayers is an IRS-impersonation phone call. Scammers claim they are from the IRS using bogus names and ID numbers. They usually state the taxpayer owes money and could be arrested or other consequences if they do not pay immediately by gift card or wire transfer.
